If any students had difficulties in accessing or completing these learning tasks, they will need to attend some catch-up sessions beginning after October ½ term where support will be available for the students to overcome and correct this.

This year Unit R081 and R082 are is being taught from the beginning. If some of the elements in these units have been looked at previously, this will result in a quick review of this content, whereas other new elements will be looked at and studied in more detail. In any case, the full course will be delivered ensuring all students have the opportunity to be successful in the May/June 2021 examinations.
